BOY SCOUTS EVERYWHERE IN EVIDENCE IN AIDING THE ARMISTICE DAY CELEBRATIONS

Boy Scouts are in evidence everywhere where there is anything doing today. As usual, they are "on the job" to help to make the Armistice Day celebration a success, and they can be depended on to do their full share.

At Lester park this morning, where the flag was presented to the city by the American Legion, the boys were a part of the ceremony. They lined up along one side of the square about the speakers and stood at attention and saluted like seasoned veterans when the "Star Spangled Banner" was played.

Along the course of the cross-country run they were stationed to signal the progress of the race, using semaphore flags and the international semaphore code. At Lester park they were much in evidence, acting as special police and aiding to keep the crowds back and orderly. They helped to park automobiles and in fact, were always on the spot when needed. The Legion committee is very grateful for their help.

WINDOW DISPLAYS OFFICERS ARRIVE TO REMINDE PUBLIC OF NOV. 11, 1918

Recalling to memory November 11, of 1918, several newspapers of that date, bearing banner headlines, telling of the signing of the armistice, are on display in the window of a cigar store on Washington avenue. The papers tell of the signing of the articles by the Germans and vividly depict the joy and exuberance of feeling with which the news was received.

In a candy store on Twenty-fifth street, between Grant and Lincoln, the owner has placed a display of military equipment. Canadian bayonets and belts, a tin trench hat, knapsacks and carriers, and other paraphernalia decorate the window, and last, but not least, is a captured German belt and a hat taken from a German prisoner.

ORE FROM LODATO MINE IS VERY RICH

C. H. Gosling and G. H. Abbott returned to Ogden late last evening after visiting the Lodato mines at Windsor, Utah, and report that after viewing the twenty-three claims at present being worked, the prospects for the company are exceedingly bright.

Some 700 feet below the top of the mountain a tunnel is being worked, now in 50 feet, with rich vein of ore in sight.

Assays of the ore from this tunnel show its value to be about $200 per ton in silver, plus a little gold and copper. From this tunnel there have been taken about five carloads of ore and the construction of a tramway from the tunnel to the level ground below is now underway. A big compressor is being erected and when completed three shifts of workmen will be used to push ahead with the mining of this valuable ore.

The result of nineteen months' work on these claims, says Mr. Abbott, is that, working from fifteen to eighteen hours per day, Mr. Lodato has run fifteen tunnels varying in length from 15 to 50 feet and in every instance has struck ore varying in quality, but all valuable. In one of the tunnels the ore is assaying $80 to $150 per ton and, according to Mr. Lodato, there is ore in sight for years.

Mr. Gosling, who has had wide experience in Utah mines, says that the Lodato property is "the biggest thing I have ever seen." Ore from the mine brought back by Mr. Gosling and Mr. Abbott is on view at the McBride Drug Store.

Uinta Oil & Exploration Co.

NOT A DREAM BUT A REALITY.

No oil field in America will compare with the famous Uinta Basin, Utah. This is the unanimous opinion of many of the leading and most reputable oil experts and geologists of the United States. This field contains the richest oil shale in the world, also the only commercial gilsonite (oxidized petroleum). These are broad and startling statements, but they are absolute facts. The time to get in is before the boom and not afterwards. Foresight is the keynote of success: then back up your judgment with money. Nothing ventured, nothing gained. We are the pioneers in this great Uinta Basin. Recent development and the results of our large well coming in will make the price of our stock soar. Shares now 15 cents. valors about December 1.

Union Pacific trains from the east, because of a general snowfall between Ogallala, Nebraska, and Laramie, Wyoming, have been delayed several hours, according to reports received at the depot this morning.

The snowfall is of exceptional depth for this time of year and is heavy enough to cause considerable trouble in the handling of trains.

Total number of arrests for the month of October, 47.

Total amount of fines and forfeitures for October, $735.

Respectfully submitted,

T. E. BROWNING,
Chief of Police.

Commenting on police activities during the past year, Commissioner Miles L. Jones said to a Standard representative this morning that the total of fines and forfeitures in the city court during this past year is the greatest in the history of the city of Ogden, approximately the sum of $15,000.

"It is my intention shortly to submit to the city commissioners an amended ordinance dealing with pool halls," said Commissioner Jones.

"City Attorney Reeder is busy working on the amended ordinance which will raise the age from 18 to 21 at which youths are allowed to play in public pool halls."

Asked for the causes which had led to the consideration of amending the present ordinance, Commissioner Jones said: "Parents and school teachers, have complained bitterly of late of the way in which many young men of high school age are wasting their time and spoiling their life chances by attendance in pool halls. I am persuaded that an amended ordinance such as I have referred to would considerably aid in the better protection of the youths of the city from the formation of habits of carelessness, wastefulness, and lack of aim which go to spoil so many lives."

Some men are so suspicious that they won't believe the signs at a railroad crossing.

Impressive Presentation

The flag presentation ceremony at Lester park this morning was a very impressive affair. Four representatives of the G. A. R., five of the Spanish-American war veterans, two members of the marines, two of the U. S. army and one member of the navy stood in line, with the flag to be presented carried by one man in the center of the line.

Attorney Joseph Evans, in his uniform as captain, U. S. army, stood between this line and the city commissioners. After the band had played the Star Spangled Banner, Captain Evans said, in part:

"Betsy Ross was instructed by George Washington and other American patriots to design a flag that would represent all that those who fought in the Revolutionary war meant: that it should stand for. She designed the Star Spangled Banner. That banner means liberty; it means a free people. Only pirates and the Huns learned to hate it. We respect that flag for what it means to us. The sun never sets on it, as it flies over our embassies and consults the world over. Wherever it is, it is respected and honored."

"The white in the flag stands for purity. The blue represents steadfastness and the red stands for the blood shed in its defense. The red in the folds of that flag has been made a deeper red by the blood of those who gave their lives in the recent war that she might uphold the principles for which she was intended and we are proud to say that those principles were only enriched and ennobled by the boys who fought for her and all she represents."

"It is with deep feeling and a sense of great honor that I present this flag to Ogden City. It is with pride that I reflect that I was chosen to make this presentation. In the name of the American Legion I present this emblem to the city of Ogden."

Response of Mayor.

Mayor Browning responded as follows:

"In behalf of Ogden City we feel highly honored to accept this flag. I remember, shortly after the armistice was signed, hearing Secretary of War Baker state that the war had cost the world $197,000,000,000. When we reflect that the wealth of the entire United States does not amount to this huge sum and that if the United States were to be sent to the bottom of the Atlantic ocean, the loss would be eleven billions of dollars short of the cost of the war, we see what a terrible thing it was. In accepting this flag, I assure you it will be revered and treasured as representing a token of the sacrifices the boys who gave it to the city went through that it might continue to wave over this land of the free and the home of the brave."

Those in Line.

"Those in the presentation line were: G. A. R. Veterans, F. J. Henderson, E. M. Vandervort, commander Dix Logan post; M. M. Clocier; E. C. Valereux; C. J. Harris, of the United Confederate Veterans. Spanish War Veterans: C. J. Harris, Lewis Miller, R. A. Norris, W. E. Phillips. Major Will White and G. Duncan McLeod. The latter is also a veteran of the recent war. The United States marine corps was represented by George F. Vance, Sergeant G. G. Sonberg and Sergeant J. L. Morris, local marine recruiting officer. The navy was represented by E. F. Stodmeister, chief gunner's mate, formerly in charge of the Ogden recruiting office. L. Howard Swanner, holding the flag during the presentation speech, and G. D. McLeod represented the U. S. army."

On completion of the ceremony, the band played "Battle Hymn of the Republic," the audience singing in the chorus. As each national anthem of the allies was played, the flag representing that nation was marched forward, until all of the allies in the world war were included in the line.

It was a very impressive ceremony, in spite of the disagreeable halitum that was on at the time. There was a fairly large crowd present.

Concluding the presentation ceremony, the band again played the "Star Spangled Banner."

Horses and men who get "hot under the collar" never win a race—even by a neck.

The Red flag always pales and fades in the sunlight of honest publicity.

Bricklayers begin to rent a building to the owner before it is erected.

Principle has an annoying habit of getting mixed up with prejudice.

Court clerks are greeting the patrons now with "What can we show you in divorces today, Mrs. Lecladee?"

The peace treaty is not the only thing suffering from reservations—good intentions have them, too.
